API Summit 2023 explores a new horizon for African real estate

Issued by Catalystworks 26 Sep 2023

The African continent's most influential property gathering, the 14th annual Africa Property Investment (API) Summit, including the API Hospitality and API Proptech forums, will be held live from Johannesburg at the Marriot Hotel, Melrose Arch, on Tuesday, 10, and Wednesday, 11 October 2023.

The #API2023 Summit is regarded as the foremost arena for property dealmaking and insight in Africa's diverse real estate markets. The in-person-only event is a platform to reconnect and network with investors, developers and property leaders from more than 25 African and international countries.

Standard Bank is the lead sponsor of the API Summit, which will host more than 550 delegates representing over 150 companies over the two days.

Niyi Adeleye, head of real estate, finance, Africa regions at Standard Bank, comments:
"The API is perhaps the most active platform that facilitates the gathering of real estate participants in the continent. Africa's time is

Green Buildings Driving a Growing Investment Market Across Africa

From universities to 3D-printed homes, EDGE is showing strong growth throughout Africa

With more than 4.2 million square meters of EDGE-certified floor space throughout the continent, many African countries have become proven growth markets for green buildings. IFC research in three African nations shows the green building market steadily growing from early signs of emergence in Ghana to a moderately developed market in South Africa, where Absa Bank recently partnered with IFC to expand affordable housing finance, following their 2021 IFC green finance deal.

Read the latest Green Building Market Intelligence Reports from Ghana, Kenya, and South Africa. These Green Building Market Snapshots are a summary of key market indicators based on IFC's research on policy environment, building construction, and Green Building certification and finance.
